BIOGRAPHY

Singer/Songwriter/Composer Michael Penn has released five albums: Mr. Hollywood Jr., 1947 (2005), MP4 (2000), Resigned (1997), Free-for-all (1992) and March (1989). March featured the radio and MTV hit "No Myth." Paul Thomas Anderson was inspired by his album Free-for-all when he was writing his first feature Hard Eight and encouraged Michael to write the score to the film. Michael then went on to score Paul Thomas Anderson's critically-acclaimed Boogie Nights. Michael has also served as producer for various artists, including Aimee Mann, Liz Phair and the Wallflowers. Stereo Review critic Parke Puterbaugh says it best "Michael Penn is a thinking person's pop musician, who has seemingly digested all that is good about music in the last 25 years and processed it through his very own perceptive filters." Penn's most recent film work includes the Michael Douglas starring Solitary Man (2010) for Brian Koppelman and David Levien and Skateland (2011) for Anthony Burns. Penn is currently scoring the third season of the hit HBO series Girls in addition to the second season of the Showtime series Masters of Sex.
